Name of Website: NotesSimple

Description: My website will be based around an app idea that is called NotesSimple. This app uses voice to text translators to take notes for students in class and produce organized documents that highlight repeated information or phrases. The website will work alongside the app to provide users with information on how to use the app, how to download the app, features, etc. The website is going to be simple for the user without being boring. The whole idea of the app/website is for it to be simple for everyone to use so my website will have a clean layout with a simple color scheme that is also very easy for users to access information.

Page names: Home, Download, NotesSimple+, Account, More

Data that will be stored: The home page will contain all of the basic information about what the app does, how it works, benefits that come with using the app, and why it is effective. There will also be a download page that has links for people to download on all versions of computers and for mobile users they will be redirected to their devices app store. The NotesSimple+ page will be a place where you can subscribe to an upgraded version that offers more features. The page will have a list of upgraded features and then a place to sign into your account and pay for the upgraded version. The account page is where you will provide all of your basic information to create your account for the app. This is where you can also manage your subscriptions, payments methods, contact information, etc. The more page will contain basic copyright information, a place to contact the company, and a help section.
